your story with the Disability Royal Commission

Support to tell Your Story to the Disability Royal Commission

Support to tell Your Story to the Disability Royal Commission

Have you been affected by violence, abuse, neglect or exploitation?

Then you may want to share your story with the Disability Royal Commission.

Information and support

There are different places you can contact for information or support.

These are free services..

Your story, your choice

Not everyone will want or need information and support.

You don't have to get information and support if you don't want to.

Independent

The support services are all separate and independent from the Disability Royal Commission.

Blue Knot Foundation

This is a free counselling and referral service. Phone: 1800 421 468

Disability Advocates

They can tell you about the Royal Commission and support you to tell your story. To find an advocate go to: disabilityadvocacyfinder.dss.gov.au

Your Story Disability Legal Support

Free legal support to safely share your story. We can link you with a Disability Advocate. Phone: 1800 77 1800 or go to yourstorydisabilitylegal.org.au

Help in other languages

We can organise an interpreter for you including an Auslan Interpreter.

If you are Deaf, hard of hearing and/or have a speech impairment you can talk to us using the National Relay Service.
